

Bengt-Åke Samuelsson
(1952-2002)

Bengt-Åke Samuelsson died unexpectedly while this volume of Lund Archaeological Review was being edited. His career as an archaeologist at Malmö Museum and at Malmö Heritage spanned over more than 25 years. He was to cover both prehistoric periods as well as the medieval era in his research, and focused in later years particularly on the late Iron Age. Bengt-Åke was a most estimated colleague, and a beloved friend of many.