

Editorial

This journal is the sequel of the Scandinavian Journal of Modern Greek Studies, which was published in four volumes. Our aim is to expand our research scope and publish the journal annually.

We publish this journal in collaboration with Greek and Byzantine Studies at Uppsala University, catering to all scholars working with Greek philology and history from the Byzantine period until the present.

We welcome not only Scandinavian scholars but also international colleagues to submit contributions. The journal is distributed free of charge to researchers, institutions and university libraries around the world and will also be available online.

Vassilios Sabatakakis
Modern Greek Studies
Lund university